Death Claims New Holland Publisher

The owner and publisher of The New Holland Leader, a weekly newspaper, collapsed and died yesterday evening while officiating a basketball game at Bloomingburg.

Mr. Laurence A. Hunter, 44, was pronounced dead-on-arrival at Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington, D.C. He reportedly suffered a heart attack while officiating at the basketball game.

Mr. Hunter, a graduate of Atlanta High School, had been owner and publisher of the New Holland weekly since 1950. He was a charter member of the New Holland Lions Club, a veteran of World War II, member of the American Legion and the Ohio Bowling Congress. He was a registered official with the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

He was born March 26, 1920, at Bloomingburg, the son of James and Clara Dawson Hunter.

Dedication Due Sunday for New Church Addition

Dedication ceremonies for the new addition and remodeled facilities at the First Church of Christ in Christian Union Church will be conducted starting 2 p. m. Sunday.

The announcement was made today by the Rev. Edward Adkins, pastor. The church is at 436 E. Ohio St.

Special plans for the day will begin with the Sunday School and morning worship service, Rev. Adkins said. There will be a special Sunday School rally and "we're pushing for a 900 attendance," he commented.

The Urhig Brothers Quintet will present a special musical program during the worship service. Rev. Adkins will deliver the sermon.

Once Around Roundtown

WORD HAS been received here that Mrs. Kay Boltenhouse and her four children are enjoying their visit in Newfoundland.

Mrs. Boltenhouse is seeing her native Newfoundland for the first time in 13 years. She and her children departed here Feb. 1 for a visit with her mother who has been ill.

The trip was made possible through the kindness of friends, neighbors and many other persons in this community. They raised more than $785 for the journey.

A note from Mrs. Boltenhouse explaining the family's safe arrival in Newfoundland was received here by Rev. Edward Adkins of the Church of Christ in Christian Union. He said she again expressed deep thanks to the community for making the trip possible.

Old Glory Snaps in Wind Atop Historic Suribachi

TWO JIMA (AP) — The wind whipped Old Glory until she popped today as though it was the muffled crack of distant guns. More than 30 veterans gazed down over the parapets built two decades ago on Mt. Suribachi.

Only the sands of Iwo Jima were reminiscent of the bloody Pacific campaign that began here 20 years ago today and ended a month later after 6,821 Americans and 19,000 Japanese were dead.

"In the latter stages of World War II," Brig. Gen. John Coursey of the U.S. Marines said in a ceremony commemorating the anniversary, "Iwo Jima attained a stature of great strategic significance. It became equally as important to Japan that the island be held at all costs as it was for the United States to seize the island at any price.

"Thus on this fateful day, 20 years ago, the forces of these nations closed in mortal combat. They remained thus engaged for 36 fierce days, neither side gaining or giving a foot of ground, but through fire, flood or death."

Communist Buses Falter for Cubans

MIAMI, Fla. (A) — Buses made in Communist countries have not worked out in Havana, but reconstructed General Motors buses are doing fine, a top Cuban transport ministry official said.

The capacity of buses made in Communist lands is too small for Havana, Jose Morales, deputy minister of transportation, said in a radio interview monitored in Miami Thursday night.

They are better suited for smaller towns in the provinces, Morales said. "A route serviced entirely by reconstructed General Motors buses has been initiated recently," Morales said. "In just three months, Cuban mechanics in Havana have rebuilt 26 buses."

Akron Teachers Hint Bolt of OEA Coming

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The 2,050 members of the Akron Education Association (AEA) will be polled to see if they want to break with the Ohio and National Education Associations.

N. S. Elderkin Jr., AEA president, said Thursday that the poll will be taken from March 25 to April 1. The AEA long has been dissatisfied with the state and national associations, claiming they do not give classroom teachers equal representation on executive committees and boards of directors.

Defendant's Measles Sends Court Outdoors

FONTANA, Calif. (AP) — "I have the measles, your honor," defendant Walter A. Trearmer, 33, of Fontana announced Thursday in Justice Court after a jury had been impaneled.

Judge M. E. Milleman hastily dismissed the panel and ordered the court removed to a parking lot where the defendant — from a distance — changed his plea to guilty on a charge of battery.

Trearmer was fined $110 and given a suspended 30-day sentence.

9 Injured In Alabama Racial Strife

3 Newsmen Given Lumps as Negroes Seek Vote Rights

MARION, Ala. (AP) — One Negro was shot twice and at least eight other persons, including three newsmen, were beaten during a clash between Negro demonstrators and police on the first night march of the present voter registration campaign.

The march started quietly Thursday night at the Zion Methodist Church on one corner of the attractive square in the center of this west-central rural Alabama county seat of about 4,000.

About 500 demonstrators left the church and headed for the jail to protest the arrest of one of their leaders, James Orange. Police told them to disperse.

"We stood there a little while and turned around," said Albert Turner, president of the Perry County Civil League. "One of the ministers in the group started praying. By that time state troopers had arrived."

He said the troopers "started pushing the crowd back toward the church, but our people couldn't get in the door because it was jammed. When they tried to go around the church to a side door the troopers beat them."

Police and Highway Patrol officials declined to comment on what followed. But there was clubbing and shoving and some rock and bottle throwing. An FBI spokesman said some arrests were made.

In addition to the nine reported injured, Negro leaders said 15 or 20 members of their race were hurt but not enough to be hospitalized.

The man who was shot was identified as Jimmie Lee Jackson, 26, of Marion. He was shot twice in the stomach and was in critical condition in a Selma hospital.

Five other Negroes were hospitalized in Selma.

Richard G. Valeriani, an NBC correspondent, was clubbed on the head and taken to the Perry County Hospital at Marion. Six stitches were needed for a wound at the base of his skull.

Two United Press International men also were injured. Pete Fisher, a photographer, said he got "a pretty good working over" and his camera was smashed. Reggie Smith, a newsfilm cameraman, said he was hit in the ribs and his camera broken.

Turner said that Orange was arrested earlier in the day on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Orange

Anti-Buddhist Coup Attempted

McNamara Hints Change in Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara strongly hints he will recommend a change in draft policies when he reports to President Johnson on the problem in April.

McNamara, in a report to the House Armed Services Committee on the nation's military strength, indicated that some modification will be necessary in the Selective Service System because of a growing surplus in draft-age men.

And that, he observed, compounds the difficulty of deciding fairly which young men will be called up and when.

McNamara began reading his lengthy statement on the defense posture at a closed meeting of the committee Thursday. He returns today and is not expected to be able to finish his testimony before Tuesday.

"But it all depends on how many questions the committee members ask him," a committee source said.

In the censored and much shorter — it's still 207 pages — version made public Thursday, McNamara touched on practically every defense problem from jungle warfare and fallout shelters to manpower.

The defense secretary noted that President Johnson had ordered the manpower study last April.

"All reasonable alternatives to the present system, including the possibility of meeting our requirements on an entirely voluntary basis at some time in the next decade, are being explored," McNamara said.

McNamara didn't mention it but one problem has already arisen. Just the knowledge that a possible end of the draft is being considered, the Pentagon reports, has led to a drop in Army enlistments and a corresponding increase in the draft quota.

Catholic Leads Viet Uprising

Ouster of Khanh Still Uncertain

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Military forces headed by a Roman Catholic officer revolted today against Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh's leadership and, without firing a shot, seized strategic centers of Saigon.

But an attempt seemed under way to nullify the coup, the eighth major upheaval in South Viet Nam's politico-military affairs in the last 16 months. The situation was tense. U.S. diplomats launched consultations, evidently aimed at avoiding bloodshed.

Warplanes circled above the rebel-held Saigon radio station and tanks were drawn up outside it. Loudspeakers warned civilians to clear the area.

The rebel chieftain, Col. Pham Ngoc Thao, 42, said the commander of South Viet Nam's U.S.-backed armed forces was under house arrest, along with Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, head of the air force. Ky put down a similar uprising against Khanh last Sept. 13.

Conflicting reports however, said Ky was safe and still in control of many of his fighters at the Bien Hoa base outside Saigon and that Khanh was at one of two provincial cities, Bang Tau or Nha Trang.

Thao, 42, and most of the other coup leaders are Catholics, a minority in this largely Buddhist nation.

A violent Buddhist reaction was predicted to their bid for power, which came 72 hours after the installation of a new government in which that sect was well represented.

Thao is a former aide of Khanh who, in the late 1940s, served as both a line officer and information chief for Ho Chi Minh in the Communist fight that eventually drove the French from Indochina. He explained "I was never a Communist, but I believed deeply in the

2 Workmen Are Rescued From Cave-in

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The second of two men trapped in a tunnel cave-in under the Mahoning River was rescued early today after he had been up to his armpits in mud and rock for three hours.

Franklin Newman, 28, of nearby Hubbard, was pulled free by police, firemen and fellow workers who had to cross under the river from the opposite end of the tunnel to free him. The collapse of the tunnel, six feet in diameter, occurred near the bank.

Another construction worker, Palmer McGuire, 40, of Hanoverton, Columbiana County, was rescued a few minutes after the tunnel caved in.

Both men were hospitalized to determine the extent of their injuries.

Rescuers working their way to Newman said they heard him cry out "my legs are getting tired" just before a second collapse buried him up to his chest. A doctor crawled into the tunnel and gave Newman a shot of morphine during the rescue operation.

The tunnel is to carry several sewer lines under the river.

Indians May Turn To Mexican Roles

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There was a time when the American Indian considered the Western movie set his last preserve. But now he says the make-up man can give anybody a "red skin."

The Los Angeles Indian Center called a news conference Thursday to complain that Caucasians and "foreigners of Mexican and African descent" are running the American Indian out of filmdom.

A newsmen suggested that if persons of Mexican descent could play Indians, then Indians could go Latin.

"Do you think that's possible," actor Raven Gray Eagle was asked.

"Si," he replied.

Brando's Son Is Pawn in Court Fuss

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — From the strife of one of Hollywood's stormier marriages to the tranquility of farm life in Illinois —

This is the change of worlds awaiting the six-year-old son of Marlon Brando and Ana Kashfi, following a court ruling Thursday at the end of one of filmdom's longest custody battles.

Miss Kashfi exploded at the decision which gave Brando temporary custody of Christian Devi on condition that he be raised by Brando's elder sister, Frances Loving, in Mundelein, Ill.

Miss Kashfi stormed out of the courtroom, banging doors, and outside the courthouse told a newsmen: "This baby is my whole life. I bore him. Where in the hell was Marlon Brando when the child was being brought up?"

"And now a judge gives him to a woman I don't even know. Is this justice?"

The actress, her eyes dark, said: "I am not through fighting. I will subpoena the judge and whole — damn court."

Mrs. Loving testified at the five day trial. She's active in the PTA and her husband has been president of the local Board of Education. He's an instructor at the Chicago Art Institute.

Prague Archbishop Is Freed by Reds

ROME (AP) — Archbishop Josef Beran of Prague arrived in Rome today, ending 16 years of confinement or restriction at the hands of Czechoslovakia's Communist government.

The 77-year-old prelate came to the Vatican for the ceremonies next week at which he and 26 other prelates will be made cardinals by Pope Paul VI.

CTK, the Czechoslovak news agency, said he would not return to Prague and that Pope Paul had appointed Dr. Frantisek Tomasek apostolic administrator in Prague.

Fair Housing Law In Cleveland Urged

CLEVELAND (AP) — Enactment of a fair housing law was recommended in a report submitted to Mayor Ralph S. Locher by the Cleveland Community Relations Board Thursday.

"An open occupancy ordinance is important," the report said, "because without it schools are or become more segregated, slum growth is accelerated because of forced overcrowding and crime and disease are increased."

Postal Holiday Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's postal system will go on a holiday basis Monday, Washington's Birthday. No mail except special delivery will be handled.

Viet Nam Envoy Supports Coup

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Viet Nam's ambassador to the United States Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khien, announced his full support for the military revolt against Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

He said in an interview today that if the present coup succeeds he will return to Saigon at the invitation of the coup leaders to give whatever help he can in returning his country to stability.

Khien, who arrived here Nov. 22 as ambassador, assailed Khanh as a "dictator who created disorder in order to stay in power."

He said he had received a message from Col. Pham Ngoc Thao asking that "I get back to Saigon as soon as possible."

Volunteer Workers Ready For Heart Sunday Visits

Heart Fund volunteers will visit homes in Circleville and Pickaway County Sunday as part of a project that requests all residents to join the fight against diseases of the heart and blood vessels, considered the nation's No. 1 health enemy.

Mrs. Manuel Sanguly, Heart Sunday chairman, said volunteers will make calls between 1 and 5 p. m. They will distribute information telling how Heart Fund dollars are used to combat the heart disease problem and receive gifts for the Heart Fund.

"A gift to the Heart Assn. is an investment which returns rich dividends," Mrs. Sanguly said. "The dividends are added years of life — particularly to those whose hearts are too young and too good to die. For example it is now clear that in the past 15 years — since the first Heart Fund campaign — the overall cardiovascular death rate of United States men 45 to 64 has declined by 7½ per cent. This is a good return on the Heart Fund dollars spent to help achieve this victory — and we're speaking about the keystones of family and industry."

Heart Fund dollars have helped bring about other achievements. Mrs. Sanguly referred to the three out of four individuals who survive heart attacks to return to work; the stroke victims who can be put back on the road to recovery through new methods of treatment and rehabilitation; the individuals whose high blood pressure can now be controlled; and the many children born with heart defects who have a chance to grow up to lead healthy, productive lives.

HEART research conducted in the central Ohio area has helped to bring about these and other advances. More than half of all Heart Fund contributions go into research, the Heart Sunday chairman explained.

Records show the Central Ohio Heart Assn., in the past year, injected more than $185,-

Fast Year Rated Top Period for Soil Conservation

Conservation practices applied by Pickaway County landowners reached an all time high during 1964, according to Donad Archer, local soil conservation service technician.

During the past year, 56 landowners became cooperators in the county, bringing the total to 327. There are 109,570 acres in the county covered by soil conservation practices mapped out by the local SCS office.

Soil Conservation personnel assisted 35 area landowners in developing conservation plans on their land during the year. There are 340 farmers in the county with basic conservation plans covering 65,680 acres.

More than 370 land owners received technical services. Approximately 400 applied some important conservation practice to their land.

A REVIEW of the year's activities shows 18 ponds were built; two springs were developed for water supplies; cropping systems were established on 27,310 acres of land; strip cropping was started on 42 acres; cover crops planted under SCS supervision on 190 acres; 21,200 feet of drainage ditches were installed; 250 acres of pasture and hayland were seeded; 453,320 feet of drainage tile were installed;

Nine acres were planted to trees; six acres of wildlife habitat were established and four acres were preserved; and 6,826 acres of soil mapping was completed to bring the total to 118,800 in the county.

An interest in a small watershed conservancy district has also been expressed for the Little Walnut Creek drainage area, Archer pointed out.

The local SCS technician said area farmers are applying the needed soil and water conservation practices at a very rapid rate.

"During 1964, more applications were received, more plans prepared and approved for operations and more construction was completed than in any previous year," he added.

Route 4 Man Fined $115 In City Court

A Route 4 resident, cited by Circleville Police for operating a motor vehicle with the headlights not turned on and with driving while his license was suspended, yesterday was fined $115 and costs.

Entering a plea of innocent to the two charges filed in Municipal Court was Edward Carter, 35. However, Judge Sterling M. Lamb ruled him guilty.

The judge also handed Carter a 10-day suspended jail sentence and placed him on probation for one year.

Others listed on the court docket were: Glenn Bowling, 23, of 213 E. Ohio St.; $19 bond forfeiture for creating unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle.

Terry Lee Sowers, 129 Logan St.; $29 bond forfeiture for driving an unsafe vehicle.

Gerald Noble Jr., Adelphi; $19 bond forfeiture for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Dale Miller, 37, Route 2; $10 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Gary Manning, 18, Bay Village; $20 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Alvin Anderson, 22, Flint, Mich.; $20 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Police Say Mother Kills 4 Sons, Self

CLEVELAND (AP)—A young mother and her four sons were shot to death in their east side home late Thursday in what police said was murder-suicide.

Police said the mother snatched her sons and then reloaded the gun and took her own life by firing a bullet into her forehead shortly after telling a friend in a telephone conversation that she intended to kill herself and her family.

Dead are: Mrs. Doris Johnson, 27, and her sons, Donald, 7; Ronald, 5; Arnold, 3; and Ernest, 11 months.

Police said Mrs. Johnson had been under psychiatric care and that twice in recent years she had undergone major kidney surgery. She had been separated from her husband, William, for more than a year.

Because of the separation, Mrs. Johnson and her sons were receiving funds from Aid to Dependent Children.

Police said Henry Blevens, of Cleveland, who described himself as Mrs. Johnson's friend, told them she threatened to kill herself and the boys when he talked to her on the telephone about 6 p.m. He said she had made similar threats before.

"I think I heard the first shot and I hung up real quick," Blevens, a barber, was quoted by police.

Two Children Treated at Berger

Two children received emergency treatment yesterday at Berger Hospital following non-vehicle accidents.

Jeffrey Speakman, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Speakman, 320 Fairview Ave., injured his right arm when he fell from a sliding board at school.

Regina Wellner, 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Wellner, Route 1, fell at home and suffered a minor cut above her right eye.

Both children were released following treatment.

News of World in Brief

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — A demonstration urging the United States to "get out of Viet Nam" is planned in Dayton Saturday by a contingent from two colleges.

A student spokesman at Antioch College here said about 100 students from Antioch and from Wilberforce University will demonstrate in front of Dayton's federal building. The spokesman said the demonstration is being organized by a group calling itself the Dayton Area Committee for Peace in Viet Nam.

At Columbus, it was reported that Students for Liberal Action, a group formed by Ohio State students, had been invited to join the demonstration.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Juvenile authorities today hold Paul White, 17, who was quoted by police as admitting he suffocated his baby daughter to stop her crying.

Two-month-old Octavia White was dead on arrival Tuesday at General Hospital. Police began questioning White Thursday after the coroner's report noted the child's neck had been bruised.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three hundred employees of the General Electric Co. plant in suburban Evendale are laid off because of a shortage of jet engine parts.

Company spokesmen said they will be laid off for two weeks. Hopes that they might be recalled sooner dimmed late Thursday with the news that a strike at the GE plant in Everett, Mass., had ended. The spokesman had said the parts might be shipped here from the strike-bound factory.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two holdup men, wearing green stocking masks, struck swiftly today at a credit union office in a Union Carbide Corp. plant and escaped with an estimated $24,000 in cash, police reported.

The robbers fled in a green car which authorities said had been stolen.

A company spokesman said the money was to have been for credit union use. The spokesman set the figure of the missing sum.

CINCINNATI (AP) — A suspected hit-skip driver was shot dead Thursday night while trying to escape from police in suburban Norwood. He was identified as William Clarence Patton, 22, Norwood.

Patrolman Warren Vandergriff said he was told a sedan had struck several parked cars and kept going. He spotted a car answering this description and started following it.

Vandergriff said the driver tried to evade him and finally stopped near a house, jumped out and ran. The patrolman said he ordered the man to halt and fired a warning shot, before he aimed at Patton.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Juvenile Court hearing in a murder case was postponed today because the 15-year-old boy involved has the mumps.

Charles A. Fulton, arrested after a shoe store clerk was slain during a robbery, was due in court for a psychiatric report which will help determine whether he should be considered an adult for prosecution in the case.

But Fulton is in isolation in county jail until March 1 because he has the mumps. He is accused in the fatal shooting of Richard E. Vice, assistant manager of a shoe store, during a $200 robbery.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of the Geological Survey have prepared the first detailed contour map of a portion of the moon's surface, using a new technique they developed, the Interior Department announced today.

The map was prepared from photographs taken last July by the Ranger 7 spacecraft near its point of impact with the moon.

A survey spokesman said similar photographs may be obtained by Ranger 8 Saturday.

Dedication . . .

It has enjoyed at least five additions and remodeling programs previous to the current one.

"Because of the rapid growth in recent years, it was decided to fashion this addition so it will nearly double the capacity of the church," Rev Adkins said.

Construction was completed by the Robert A. Clark and Sons Co., Columbus. The addition provides for a completely new sanctuary with new pews and pulpit furniture. Included are a new nursery, new restroom facilities, two new offices, heating and air conditioning, 14 fully equipped classrooms in the new basement and some remodeling of the existing building.

Records at the local church show that the average Sunday School attendance is just under 600. The educational program includes about 40 Sunday School classes, staffed by 70 officers and teachers. It is a departmentalized Sunday School program with six separate assemblies in the opening and closing services.

All facilities of the church will be open for viewing by the public during the open house Sunday afternoon.

liberation of the country. 'Thao accused Khanh of running a dictatorship. He said the strong man who has dominated South Vietnamese affairs for 13 months was interested only in money and power.

"No government can work under Khanh pressure," he said.

Thao in a broadcast accused Khanh of swindling the military and the people. He said his action was directed against one man — Khanh — and no one else.

It was the eighth government upheaval in South Viet Nam since President Ngo Dinh Diem was overthrown and slain Nov. 1, 1963. Khanh, commander of the armed forces, has been the country's strongman since Jan. 30, 1964.

There was great possibility of an attack by military units loyal to Khanh.

Khanh had been expecting trouble. Nearly the entire armed forces strategic reserve normally held in Saigon to reinforce any field units in trouble, had been deployed to the provinces where forces loyal to Khanh presumably were still in charge.

These include two battalions of Marines in central Bin Dinh Province and the large force Khanh led to Nha Trang for an attack on a suspected Viet Cong supply port.

Thao claimed he had the support of the 25th, 9th, 7th and 5th Army Divisions, which are stationed in areas adjoining Saigon, plus part of the marine corps and part of the air force.

The first signs of the coup came at the waterfront near Khanh's armed forces headquarters. Several M24 tanks smashed through the barbed-wire barricades outside the navy headquarters and Khanh's house which are on the same street.

Riding in one of the tanks was Col. Thao.

This happened about 1 p.m. Saigon time (midnight Thursday Eastern Standard Time).

At the same time, tanks smashed their way into the Saigon Airport, blocking Vietnamese air force planes whose pilots were not on the side of the rebels. About 10 Skyraider fighter-bombers whose pilots apparently had been won over, took off and circled Saigon for the remainder of the afternoon. Within 30 minutes all key military installations in Saigon had been taken by the rebels.

It was believed that troops from the 5th Division, based 15 miles north of Saigon, had occupied the installations with assistance of at least two marine battalions.

At 2 p.m., when Thao had received confirmation by radio that all objectives had been taken, a convoy of tanks and military trucks drove hurriedly through the streets to Saigon radio station.

There, Thao said in a broadcast, "This is not a coup d'etat but it is a military operation."

"All the units of the army, navy and air force and marines are contributing."

"General Khanh is a dictator. All units throughout the country must maintain order and security."

"This is the voice of the military-civilian force."

Interviewed at the radio station, Thao said, "We want to get rid of Khanh and restore order. We will see later if any of the present government will stay."

A new government named by Khanh had been installed in office on Tuesday. Dr. Phan Huy Quat is premier and Phan Khac Son was retained as figurehead chief of state.

Car Overturns, Driver Not Hurt

A Cincinnati driver was not injured when his small car turned over on its side at 12:05 a.m. today at E. Main St. and Lancaster Pike.

The driver was identified as Hans P. Schmelzer, 27. His Volkswagen flipped over while he was making a right turn from Lancaster Pike onto E. Main St.

Schmelzer told Sgt. Roderick List and Patrolman Larry Pontious a car approaching from the opposite direction on Main St. forced him to make a sharp turn which caused his vehicle to overturn.

Officers said the left side and top of the small car was heavily damaged. The driver of the other auto allegedly involved was not identified.

Slav Family Is Reunited

Cincy Airport Sees Refugee Reunion

CINCINNATI (AP) — Seven years' separation and worry ended at the Greater Cincinnati Airport when a Yugoslav refugee was reunited with his wife and daughter.

The last time Pahomie Stancu, 49, had seen them was just before he and his son Cornel, now 21, started on their five days' hike across the Alps into Austria. His wife Anica, 41, and daughter Angelina, 16, stayed behind in their native village near Belgrade.

It was Stancu's third attempt to escape the Communist-ruled country and came after his shop was confiscated and he himself jailed for a while as a "politically unreliable" person. His two earlier escape attempts ended when he was caught by Marshal Tito's border guards.

As the jet bringing his wife and daughter here on the last lap of their trip from Belgrade touched down late Thursday, tears wet Stancu's eyes.

The reunion at the bottom of the steps was tumultuous. Angelina's red hair fell off as her father and brother swung her off her feet. Mrs. Stancu laughed and cried—and got her hat mashed. Both father and son lost out in their efforts to hide their emotions.

Standing nearby were the Rev. and Mrs. David B. Sageser of Clifton Methodist Church. The Rev. Mr. Sageser met the Stancus, father and son, in Austria while on a pastoral exchange in 1959.

His church had been wanted to sponsor a refugee family and the Rev. Mr. Sageser arranged to bring the Stancus to Cincinnati. Later, he helped them with the paperwork needed to bring out Mrs. Stancu and Angelina.

There were the usual delays—the last of them Wednesday when Mrs. Stancu and her daughter failed to arrive on their scheduled flight. But all turned out well in the end.

What Really Happened?

OCALA, Fla. (AP) — When Harris Rabun, 22, fell from the roof of his house at nearby Oxford, the washing machine was waiting to catch him.

Rabun landed in the machine, which was directly beneath him, and in operation.

He was hospitalized with a broken ankle.

Middletown Mother Found By Son after 18 Years

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Betty Greer was still trying to get into touch with her son today—but this time it was different.

She was trying to arrange through the Red Cross for a telephone connection to Korea where her son, Pfc. Arnold Edward Anderson, 19, is serving in the 2nd Battalion of the 5th Cavalry Regiment.

Up to this week, for "13 heartache years," she had no idea what had happened to Arnold and his other brother Larry since their father took them to Duluth, Min., after obtaining a divorce on Feb. 18, 1948.

Arnold was only a few months old at the time, and her later attempts to find them in Minnesota were unsuccessful.

This week, police in nearby Middletown received a letter.

"I've never seen my mother," Pfc. Anderson wrote. "I don't know if she's alive or dead, and I don't know who else to turn to." The letter went on to say he believed his mother's maiden name had been Richards, and she had lived in Middletown.

Police Lt. Harold Gray said he and his men searched old city directories for Anderson. Tracing birth certificates on file at the City Health Department they found Mrs. Anderson's maiden name had been Nichols—not Richards.

Mrs. C. D. Nichols, living on the street where Betty Nichols had lived in 1945, turned out to be the soldier's grandmother. She told police her daughter, now 37, had remarried Wallace Greer. She also called her daughter.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Greer went to the police station and Lt. Gray gave her the letter.

"She said she learned of the letter about noon, but that she couldn't talk all day for crying," the lieutenant recalled.

Argentina's 'Far West' Is Now Living in 'Roaring '20s'

TREVELIN, Argentina (AP) — Here on Argentina's south-west frontier you expect any minute a crowd of horsemen will ride through the dusty main street crying, "They went thataway."

But wait, what are those English types doing in there, some in baggy pants, sneakers and berets?

That's just Trevelin, the last outpost Welsh immigrants established in Argentina in a 19th century bid to found a colony devoted exclusively to the practices of the Celtic tongue, customs and traditions. The mission failed in its ultimate objective. Little of what they brought with them remains. But the Welsh will use what remains in July when they celebrate the centenary of a pilgrimage to the new southern world.

Many of Trevelin's 2,000 inhabitants are descended from the original Welsh colonizers. That accounts for the English characteristics of the population.

Argentines describe this part of their country as "Far West," using the American term. Cowboy-type pants are advertised as "pantalones Far West" in shop windows.

Except for the electric guitar, rock 'n' roll, bubble gum and a few other 20th century amenities, Trevelin and its sister city Esquel, 30 minutes up the road, are living somewhere in that period called the "roaring '20s."

Nearly everyone wears a luxuriant mustache. Why? Most of the men shrug off the question but Dante Brozzi, 41, co-owner of a local bar-restaurant, says: "Maybe it's because we have such large noses."

Trevelin and Esquel stride the lower, fertile foothills of the snow-capped Andean boundary between Argentina and Chile. Buenos Aires is 1,000 miles northeast. This is rugged mountain territory, with emerald lakes tucked away in lush green forests.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Approximately 100 couples attended the annual Circleville High School Sweetheart Dance.

Pickaway County was experiencing its second largest snowfall of the winter season in less than four days after four inches had fallen by noon today with another one to two inches expected by nightfall.

The American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps scheduled a practice session in Memorial Hall.

TEN YEARS AGO

Inspector Harvey Alston, former head of the juvenile department of the Columbus Police Department was guest speaker here at the second session of the "Conference on Youth."

Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Patterson and family, W. High St., entertained as a guest his brother, Cpl. Ruel Patterson, who was on leave from the Army.

St. Philip's Episcopal Church, W. Mound St., was host church for the Pickaway County World Day of Prayer Services.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Farmers of Pickaway County participating in the AAA farm program were to receive aerial photographs of their farms.

Baked ham and escalloped oysters were featured on the menu of the annual Brotherhood Washington's birthday dinner at the Methodist Church.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Q: What is the meaning of a convulsion?

A: A convulsive seizure is a sudden spasm of the muscles of the body often accompanied by loss of consciousness. These seizures vary in severity, frequency and duration, depending on their exact cause.

Q: What are the causes of convulsions?

A: Some of the causes are known, others are completely unknown.

In the newborn child, a brain defect or injury may produce convulsions.

Young infants and children have been known to have convulsive seizures associated simply with very high fever. In most instances, these convulsions do not recur.

Epilepsy, in many of its forms, produces convulsive seizures.

Q: Is there more than one type of epilepsy?

A: There are different forms of epilepsy.

"Grand mal" describes a large seizure.

"Petit mal" describes a little seizure that lasts for about 30 seconds, without complete loss of consciousness.

There is also a type of epilepsy called "psychomotor." With this kind of attack, there is some mental clouding and confusion, without loss of consciousness.

Q: Do convulsive seizures mean a mental deficiency?

A: It must be emphasized and re-emphasized that convulsive seizure in itself absolutely does not signify mental illness or deficiency.

A patient who is prone to convulsive seizures can function actively in his job and in society, in the intervals between seizures.

A convulsive seizure must never be used to disqualify anyone from an occupation he is trained to perform.

Q: How is the type of convulsion diagnosed?

A: A complete neurological examination will give many leads to the nature and extent of the condition which produced a convulsion.

The electroencephalogram, known as the EEG, is of vital importance to the study of the brain. The technique is similar to the one used to study the heart. The interpretation of an EEG, X-rays of the skull, and examination of the blood chemistry all contribute to the diagnosis.

Q: Can convulsions be cured?

A: Convulsions in themselves are not an illness. They are a symptom of some underlying condition. Therefore, convulsions cannot be cured, although they can be controlled.

There are drugs which now can be used with remarkable success in the control of certain types of epileptic convulsions.

Q: What can an observer do to help someone who is having a convulsion?

A: They can be helped by keeping them from injuring themselves while thrashing about. Tight collars, belts, girdles or other constrictions should be loosened. Then a pillow or makeshift support should be placed under the head. If possible, put a handkerchief—not a breakable object like a pencil—between their teeth, taking care that one's own fingers are not injured. This is to keep the patient from biting his tongue.

Never Learn

The sudden heightening of the conflict in Southeast Asia last week caused an almost instantaneous polarization of sentiment inside the United States that was reminiscent of the war and peace party stand-offs of the late Nineteen Thirties.

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who happened to be on a speaking expedition to New England, sat for a fifteen-minute filmed interview denouncing our "warmongers in the Pentagon," and the film was subsequently run off as the piece de resistance at a big peace rally in the Yale Law School Auditorium in New Haven, Conn. The Young Americans for Freedom quickly got into the act with denunciations of Wayne Morse's crew of "peace mongers." To anyone with vivid memories of the bad blood of the late Thirties, when the America Firsters and the William Allen White pro-war committee members were busy impugning each other's motives, it was all a little ominous.

What is especially sobering is that an internal quarrel over our Far Eastern policy could, if events cause it to sharpen, end up by becoming considerably more debilitating than the battle of the Nineteen Thirties. The peace party of pre-World War II times was a mixture of pacifists and isolationists, but the vast majority were fundamentally motivated by a loyalty to the land of their birth. Practically none of the America Firsters wanted to see a Nazi victory and there were certainly no admirers of Japanese expansionism among them. When Pearl Harbor came, most of the America Firsters got into the war as a matter of course. Charles Lindbergh, for example, tested war planes for the Ford Motor Company, and later flew some incognito missions in the Pacific. Chester Bowles became such a big wheel in the Roosevelt wartime price control apparatus that everyone forgot he had been a member of America First.

The difference in the pre-1941 atmosphere and that of the present is that many members of our current peace party are at least half-convinced that the Russians and the Red Chinese represent "progressivism." Nobody would have said that of the Nazis the Thirties; indeed Anne Lindbergh, who was accused of calling Fascism "the wave of the future," actually said that the Nazis were the "scum on the wave of the future." The peace party, this time, isn't calling the Red Chinese "scum."

Instead, there is every effort to make it appear that the United States, by becoming involved in South Vietnam, is morally in the wrong. Senator Morse speaks of "our outlawry in Southeast Asia." We are accused of supporting "unpopular, illegal governments" even in cases where we are willing to accept any government that happens to have the support of whoever or whatever happens to be the constitutive power of a land that has never known democracy.

This columnist does not go for the conspiracy theory of the tory. It is my contention that it is contagion, not conspiracy, which explains the spread of doctrines that prevent the West from making a stand for its own values anywhere outside its own narrow borders. The contagion is abetted by a dominant group in the State Department.

By John Chamberlain

ment that has obviously never made any basic study of Marxism theory and practice Put into a nutshell, the foreign policies of both Soviet Russia and Red China are based on a sapper's concept of a never ending warfare. It is a matter of tunnelling and undermining wherever such tactics promise to pay off. The guerrilla and the Fifth Columnist are the conscious agents of the enemy. But there are the unconscious ones — the stupid intellectual who never can look beneath the surface, the shallow moralist who falls for holy verbiage, the person who believes that Socialism is — coming — anyway — so — why — make-a-fight-of-it.

To win in a sapper's war, one has to know the enemy for what he is and be prepared to meet him on his terms if you aren't willing and able to impose your own. But we are too honorable to help Chiang Kai-shek put his own guerrillas ashore on the Chinese mainland, and too simple-hearted to give the green light to an infiltrating government-in-exile for Cuba. We never learn, and so we are destined to lose. Our frontiers in the future are likely to be the sands of Waikiki and the beaches of Key West.

The thought for today: "HOW IS FAITH OBTAINED?" We request you to read and ponder the first ten verses of Hebrews 11 and observe how Abraham and Noah received their faith. God told them what to do and what he would do and they believed him. Then turn to Rom. 10:17 and read the answer to our question in plain words, "So then faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word of God." People too often say, "I believe" when they should say, "It is my opinion." In religious matters, if God has not spoken in the Bible concerning a subject, it is not a subject of faith. More Overseas Bases Likely To Be Shut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States still maintains more than 400 major military bases overseas. Many are likely to be closed or reduced to standby status in the years ahead.

The advent of bigger transport planes, floating depots and faster sealoft may permit eventual reduction of heavy garrisons abroad, particularly in Europe where about 300,000 American servicemen are stationed.

The acquisition of longer-range fighters and reconnaissance jets may permit more airfields abroad to be placed on a caretaker basis, ready to receive units flown in from the United States when necessary.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara pointed in this direction last year when he told Congress that "the increasing range of land-based tactical aircraft has reduced our requirement for forward-based airpower."

The wider application of nuclear propulsion to surface warships would be another factor cutting down reliance on overseas bases.

Aside from these considerations, there is the ever-present pressure on the Defense Department to economize and to stem the outflow of gold which results from spending U.S. dollars abroad.

According to Defense Department officials, about 50 or 55 major U.S. bases have been closed overseas in the past 10 years. The total of such bases now stands at 428.

There also are about 2,900 minor installations used by this country's armed forces on foreign soil — small radar stations, hospitals, supply points and the like. Pentagon authorities said they had no figures on how many such minor bases had been closed in the past decade.

The trend toward retrenchment back to the United States has been evident for some time, chiefly in the evacuation of forward bases used by obsolescent B47 medium jet nuclear bombers.

The last 225 B47s of a force that at one time totaled more than 1,200 will be retired in the coming fiscal year. Most already have been withdrawn from Britain and Spain.

An Air Force spokesman said in London earlier this week that the Strategic Air Command will end its operations in Britain on April 1, winding up a 14-year chapter.

The Air Force now has more than 850 intercontinental ballistic missiles aimed at Communist targets from the continental United States. The Navy has more than 300 Polaris missiles ready in submarines patrolling submerged within range of Red China and the Soviet Union.

INDIAN LAUNCHES IMPEACHMENT MOVE—John Winchester (left in his Potawatomi Indian dress, right in street clothes), a director of the National Indian Youth Council, announced in Belleville, Mich., that he has begun a nationwide movement to remove or impeach Arthur Watkins, chief commissioner of the Federal Indian Claims Commission. Winchester claims Watkins has not acted to protect Indian rights and is not working in their behalf.

Masons To Attend Church Service

Anti-America Drive Grows

U.S. Embassy Damage Mounts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attacks on U.S. buildings abroad apparently are at a new high despite statements by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk calling for respect.

More than a dozen assaults have damaged American embassies and other U.S. government property since Johnson's State of the Union address Jan. 4. One unofficial count lists 14 such attacks.

State Department records show 53 cases of "damages to U.S. government buildings overseas through mob violence or other causes" in the 2½ years ended December 1964. That's slightly less than two attacks a month.

Johnson said: "We cannot be indifferent to acts designed to injure our interests, or our citizens, or our establishments abroad. The community of nations requires mutual respect. We shall extend it — and we shall expect it."

Rusk, at a news conference last Dec. 23, voiced concern over foreign violation of the "elementary rights of legations" and said: "We shall be sensitive on these matters." After the Feb. 9 attack on the American Embassy in Moscow, Rusk said the United States is going to "press very sharply" for full protection of its embassies.

A mob burned down the 25,000-book John F. Kennedy Library at Cairo. Another smashed 56 windows in the American Embassy at Moscow, set a car afire and tore the U.S. seal off the wall.

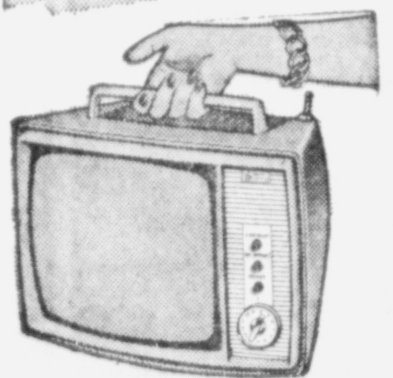

The Feb. 9 Moscow mob smashed 200 windows in the wake of U.S. air strikes on North Viet Nam. Other attacks followed on the U.S. Legations at Budapest and Sofia. Wednesday demonstrators stoned and splashed in on the American Embassy at Warsaw.

In Indonesia, the Sukarno regime continued to seize U.S. libraries. The 20,000-volume library at Jakarta was stoned and taken over last Tuesday. Its windows had been smashed and about 20 per cent of its books burned in an attack Dec. 4.

Of the American government libraries in Indonesia, three have been mobbed and closed while two smaller ones are still operating.

Rising Young Actor Sees Fortunes Fade, Brighten

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sometimes a movie star's life is not quite as rosy as it seems from an exterior view. Case in point: George Peppard.

A year ago the capable young actor seemed to have the world in his grasp. He had been starred in "The Carpetbaggers," a film with obvious commercial potential, and his life and career was considered in salutary shape.

The real situation? "I hadn't worked in six months, I was falling deeper into debt, my mother died, and I was undergoing a divorce."

Peppard can now view that dismal period with some perspective. He hadn't worked because MGM wouldn't allow him to, because he balked at reporting for a movie, "Operation Crossbow." He was also rankled by his contract, which was signed before he became a box-office star.

He held firm against the studio despite mounting debt. The outcome?

"I ended up having to do three pictures, instead of six under the old deal," he said. "I made 'Operation Crossbow,' but MGM added performers like Trevor Howard, Johnny Mills, Richard Johnson, Lilli Palmer, as well as Sophia Loren to the cast."

Now he is able to cash in on his popularity. The cash is good: $350,000 per picture, plus a percentage. He is enjoying the first such fees at Warner Brothers in "The Third Day," with the romance of his life, Elizabeth Ashley. After a 10-day vacation in Hawaii, he reports to southwest Africa for Joseph E. Levine's "The Sands of Kalahari," then returns to MGM for "Merrily We Roll Along."

And so, despite a heavy cold and a reaction to his tetanus shot for the African trip, the work looks better to George these days.

Real Cool Dog

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Columnist Paul Davis of the St. Petersburg Independent tells of this statement overheard in neighboring Pinellas Park:

"Here I was sweating it out in my old car on the way to pick up our dog who'd been vacationing in an air-conditioned kennel."

TODAY In History

Keep Kitchen Utensils Shiny

By ELEANOR ROSS
For weeks, the stores have been reporting record sales of stainless steel wear, non-stick aluminum sets, copper molds, broilers and other items for the kitchen, which has praise be, come into its own again as a focal point in the home.

The thing to do, of course, is to make good use of these wonderful cooking utensils and keep them at their handsome, gleaming best.

Stainless steel has no plating, so there is nothing to wear off. It is extremely durable but it is not a good heat conductor, therefore it is generally made with a copper or aluminum bottom.

Do not expose a stainless steel saucepan or pot to too high a temperature, otherwise, the stainless steel, which is an alloy of steel, nickel and chromium may darken in spots.

To keep stainless steel utensils in their beautiful gleaming state, get rid of any dark spots with the aid of a mildly abrasive powder and a special stainless steel pad. Never apply strong abrasives, and use only the special pad.

The same precautions as to temperature and harsh abrasives apply to the new and very popular non-stick finishes. These finishes, a boon to the dieter who must or wants to reduce or eliminate fat in frying, should not be subjected to high temperatures.

Usually, there is no need for any cleaning abrasives since the non-stick utensil usually comes clean with sudsy hot water.

Growing in popularity are utensils that are a combination of glass and ceramics. The result is ware that can stand temperature extremes and go from freezer to oven or range and are handsome enough to be used on the table as distinctive serving pieces.

The material is non-porous and is easy to keep clean. Treat it carefully and this handsome ware should give long and useful service. We find that it does better in the oven than on the stove top.

Enamel ware has made a fine comeback, one reason being a big improvement in quality plus a wonderful color range.

Enamel pieces must be carefully handled to avoid being chipped or cracked. They should not be subjected to high temperatures, liquids should not be allowed to boil away in them and they should not be plunged into cold water after removal from the stove.

Do not use highly abrasive powder or metal pads for cleaning enamel utensils.

Baking soda on a damp cloth should take care of discolorations, while a good soaking should loosen food particles.

Circleville, Ohio

Dear Abby:

There's Still Time, Honey

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old and I have never been kissed. To tell you the truth, I have never even been on a real date. I am not bad looking, but I wear glasses. I am beginning to wonder if maybe that isn't my trouble. I am not too shy, although I don't throw myself on boys, either. I can also carry on a pretty good conversation. At the rate I'm going, I'll be an old maid. Can you help me?

DATELESS: Eyeglasses rarely, if ever, cost a girl popularity. But they provide a handy excuse, which is easily seen through. For a girl to be popular she must develop the kind of personality other people enjoy. The first step is to quit thinking about yourself and concentrate on making the other person comfortable.

DEAR ABBY: A man who would make a perfect husband

Lutheran Women Mend Clothes At VA Hospital

A group of women from Trinity Lutheran Church spent an enjoyable day yesterday at the Veterans Hospital in Chillicothe.

Purpose of the visit was to help with the mending of the patients' clothing, as a service to the Red Cross. The group enjoyed the experience so much, it was decided to make it a monthly event—the third Thursday of each month.

Participating were Mrs. Fern Schwarz, Mrs. Grace Binkley, Mrs. Russell Valentine, Mrs. Ruth Wells, Mrs. Merton Lorentz and Mrs. John Mackenzie.

Mrs. Mackenzie is the stewardship chairman of the Trinity Lutheran Church Women. She is in charge of making arrangements for future visits.

Persons interested in taking part may contact either Mrs. Mackenzie or Mrs. Lorentz.

The need for help with the mending is considered great. Persons who can sew, either by hand or on a machine, are invited to make the trips.

Sewing Club Meets In Goeller Home

Mrs. Andrew Goeller, 1040 Atwater Ave., entertained the Variety Sewing Club Monday.

Eleven members were present for the meeting. The evening was spent by members visiting and sewing.

Refreshments were served near the close of the meeting.

Guild 41 Meeting Scheduled Monday

Mrs. Dudley Radcliff will be hostess when members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 41 meet 8 p. m. Monday in the guild rooms at the hospital. Mrs. David Crawford will be co-hostess.

Members are requested to bring $1 and will be asked to submit ideas for the bazaar project.

asked me to marry him. My problem is his mother. She dominates him. When he was a child, she divorced his father and devoted her whole life to raising Hal. I have to hand it to her. She did a fine job. He is beautifully educated, has a wonderful personality and is well-respected in the community. He is 41 and lives with his mother. He says when we marry, SHE will live with us. His friends tell me they wouldn't wish a mother-in-law like her on their worst enemy. She is not the affectionate, gushy type, but she seems to like me. (Hal says I am the first girl to pass her inspection.) She is 60 and in good health. Hal told me that he owes his mother "everything" and she will always come first. I love this man, but wonder about the chances of a good marriage.

A VIRGO
DEAR VIRGO: You're luckier than most women who are engaged to a Mama's boy. He has told you in advance exactly where you will stand — behind his mother, which is a poor second for any wife. Don't marry him unless you enjoy feeling sorry for yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I have been having nightmares every night for the past few weeks. First, let me tell you that I am a 38-year-old wife and mother. My husband is reasonably good to me, and while my life isn't always moonlight and roses, I am by nature a happy, friendly, but rather quiet person. I keep dreaming the same terrible dream over and over. I dream that I am in a big lake and I am an expert swimmer (which I am not) and I am with people who can't swim. They are drowning and I could save them if I wanted to, but I just let them drown and it doesn't bother me a bit. What do you make of that, Abby? Please don't send me to a psychiatrist. He would think I am crazy.

HAVING NIGHTMARES
DEAR HAVING: It would appear that your dreams are the result of deep guilt feelings. Are you in a position to help someone, but have chosen to look out the window? If the nightmare persists, see a psychiatrist. I assure you he won't think you are "crazy."

CONFIDENTIAL TO PHIL: There is, indeed, hope for a problem honestly stated is half solved.

Five Points WSCS Plans Dinner Meet

The Five Points WSCS will hold a covered dish dinner 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the Methodist Church basement.

Dr. Robert Smith will be the speaker following the dinner. He will show slides of his trip aboard the hospital ship, SS Hope.

Members are reminded to bring table service.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Shasteen, 1070 Atwater Ave., have returned home from visiting friends at Ft. Myers Beach, Fla.

18 Attend Meeting of Guild No. 6

Fifteen members and three guests of Berger Hospital Guild No. 6 met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Keith Wagner, Walnut St.

Mrs. Ben Temple, chairman, presided for the business meeting. She read a letter of thanks to the guild from the Bazaar chairman and committees and a report of the proceeds from the yearly bazaar.

Mrs. Burl Wiggins gave a report on her investigation regarding needs of the hospital for the yearly project and her recommendation was accepted as the project. A new idea for raising money was presented and referred to Mrs. Wiggins for further information. Miss Ann Gordon won the traveling prize.

Mrs. Jo Robison conducted a products party. Game prize winners were, Mary Bosworth, Jeanine Doering, Vangie Campbell, Hazel Thornton, Doris Wiggins and Jean Crider. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Temple and Mrs. Crider.

Mrs. Gerald Doering invited all members and guests to a corree at her home 7:30 p. m. Mar. 2

The March meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Dave Horn.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Perry Mason was busily confounding his old adversary Hamilton Berger, district attorney, Thursday night. But behind the cameras, his CBS overlords were deciding whether to pit the indomitable attorney against another old and familiar enemy — the Cartwright men of the Ponderosa.

It is expected that CBS will move the eight-year-old courtroom drama into its Sunday schedule next season, in direct competition with NBC's Nielsen block-buster, "Bonanza," a spot where many shows have quietly died.

In the multimillion-dollar TV chess game currently in progress, this is a fascinating move. For the first couple of years of "Bonanza's" life, it languished in the shadow of "Perry Mason" in a Saturday night spot.

Then NBC moved it to a Sunday evening, where it perked up and for the past few seasons has consistently been one of the two top shows on television, according to Nielsen's national surveys. Later, CBS moved "Perry Mason" into Thursday night where the competition with "Dr. Kildare" has been tough.

Raymond Burr, who has been playing the title role through all these years, has been grumbling for the past two or three seasons, each time growing more vehement about his reluctance to continue in the program. By last August he had even convinced Gail Patrick Jackson, the former film star who is the show's executive producer, that he really wanted out. Mrs. Jackson, in fact, was considering a replacement for Burr and also preparing other Erle Stanley Gardner properties for television.

Now, it appears certain, Burr has agreed to a ninth season of "Perry Mason."

Business Asked To Help Curb Dollar Drain

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked business leaders Thursday "to join hands with me in a voluntary partnership" and help attack the gold-dollar drain by slashing investment and lending abroad.

Johnson, who called 370 industrialists and bankers to the White House to discuss the country's balance-of-payments problem, said in remarks prepared for the session:

"I want you to go back to your office and call in your controllers and your vice presidents. I want you to ask them to consult every time they face a decision that involves sending money abroad. And I count on you to cut those outflows to the bone."

"We have to deal head-on with the surging outflow of private capital" that is contributing to the dollar-weakening balance-of-payments deficit, he said.

Johnson noted that the flow of private capital to other countries increased by $2 billion last year. The entire payments deficit last year was $3 billion.

In asking the business leaders to cut sharply their investments and loans overseas, Johnson said:

"I know this will involve some pain. And it will mean passing up a few opportunities for profits. But, in the end, your country, your industry and your stockholders will all be better off for it."

Noting that $2 billion of American-owned money is banked overseas to earn an interest advantage of a fraction of one percent, Johnson said:

"For every million dollars of this drain on our balance of payments, you are earning an after-tax return of approximately $2,500 a year. I ask you to balance this small gain against the nation's loss."

The President, who was holding in reserve a threat to propose legislation curbing capital outflows, should this voluntary program fail, said, "as President, I pledge whatever actions prove necessary to keep our economy strong and our dollar sound."

Johnson threw out a couple of specific proposals to the businessmen:

—That they "postpone, redirect or refinance activities in the developed world in ways that will cut our dollar outflows."

—That they speed up "the return of foreign earnings to this country and boost our dollar inflows."

He said the Treasury and Commerce departments, and the Federal Reserve Board, would offer "some targets and some guidelines." But he said, "the decisions will be yours," and concluded:

"Together, I would like to show the world that our government-business partnership in America works."

The Business World

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — New tax relief for business in 1965 is shaping up as a further nudge to keep the prosperity rolling.

It is hoped that business will put its tax savings into new plants and equipment and that this expansion will help everyone prosper sooner or later.

The amounts and even the scope of some of the tax relief is yet to be spelled out. But business is either sure of or promised these tax cuts:

—Federal tax rates on corporate profits will drop another notch this year, just as individual income rates will.

—Excise taxes will be cut. Just how much and what categories will be included is yet to be disclosed. While consumers will be the first obvious gainers from elimination or reduction of these sales or manufacturers' taxes, business firms expect to profit through increased sales.

—Postponement of new rules on depreciation deductions are promised. Not every business firm can profit from this easing of restrictions, but enough can so that the U.S. Treasury's collections are expected to drop by $700 million.

Depreciation rules were revised in 1962 and the Department of Commerce reported that corporate tax receipts dropped by $2.3 billion as a result.

But this year the Treasury was to put into effect tests designed to make sure that corporations don't write off their equipment faster than they actually replace it.

Now the Treasury is about to announce postponement for at least one year of enforcement of the rules, and perhaps outline changes in the rules to meet industry objections that compliance raises costly difficulties.

The rules originally were intended as a spur to business spending for modernization. But the postponement, President Johnson says, should save $700 million in taxes this year.

Many business firms had been expecting this decision and tailored their expansion programs for 1965 with the relaxed depreciation rules in mind. They say, however, that they would have had to curtail their spending plans if the postponement failed to materialize.

Business and the Treasury had been at loggerheads for years over depreciation rules. The 1962 revision pleased most companies, but still left some industries contending they are discriminated against.

Never a Dull Moment
Is Seen in This Convent

BELTMONT, N.C. (AP) — Why a young girl would trade formals and football cheers for a nun's habit and convent life still is a mystery to many on the outside.

But to many it really isn't a trade.

"We're not morose. We're very happy," says Sister Mary James, mother superior of the Sisters of Mercy. "There's never a dull moment around here."

A time for laughter and fun is set aside. The nightly recreation period may be highlighted by a movie, a television show or a game of Scrabble.

Private swimming parties or baseball games also are not a rarity. Nuns are seen more and more at public events, — even football games.

Yet a lack of understanding, shared sometimes by a nun's friends and family, has bred rumor and legend.

People have suspected nuns of trying to escape life — maybe a disappointing romance — or even of carrying on illicit activities within the walls of the convent.

Mother Mary James, elected to her post of mother superior of the Sisters of Mercy, laughed when asked about the rumors.

"Yes, some think that. But we had our choice. This sinfulness could have been done on the outside," she said. "Nobody makes you go into the convent and you can always leave."

Each religious order sets its own qualifications and can ask a girl to leave if it is thought she is not suited for the religious life. In this order she takes her final vows eight years after entering the convent.

"A convent is not a place for misfits," Mother Mary James said. "And there is no disgrace at all for those who leave before final vows. They can still live full lives — some marry — after leaving us."

Yet many people cannot see the attraction the convent has. There, vows of poverty, chastity and obedience are substituted for the secular preoccupations with money, sex and individual freedom.

Then why do hundreds of young girls—some shy and retiring, others very outgoing — join religious orders?

The common answer is that they yearned to do more with their life.

Mother Mary James was a graduate nurse when she decided to become a nun and the Sisters of Mercy is a nursing and teaching order.

"I could have had a job anywhere. I had dates, went to dances. I didn't lead a drab life," she said with a smile.

"But I wanted to do more," she continued, "more for God — through doing for people. Here in the convent I can give all my time to others."

EVANGELIST—Revival services will be held at the Circleville Church of God, 400 Nicholas Drive beginning 7 p. m. Sunday and continuing daily through Mar. 7. Gertrude Patrick, evangelist, will be the speaker. According to the pastor, the Rev. R. J. Varnell, the public is welcome to attend.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CATTLE FEEDERS AND GUEST — The Pickaway County Cattle Feeders Assn. last night presented a brief case to Hewitt Cromley, president of the Ohio Cattle Feeders Assn. Shown here, from the left, are Neil Morris, local president, making the presentation; George Hamrick, county agent; Jim Houston, Cleveland Browns linebacker who was the principal speaker; and Cromley.

County Cattle Feeders Hear All Pro Gridder at 10th Fete

The Pickaway County Cattle Feeders Assn. turned out last night with a larger than expected crowd at the 4-H and Grange building for the 10th annual banquet.

The principal speaker and attraction that drew the cattle feeders to the banquet was Jim Houston, former Ohio State gridder and an All-Pro linebacker with the Cleveland Browns.

Also on the program was Tom Stout, professor of agriculture economics at Ohio State. Stout explained the beef futures to the group and outlined how trading was conducted on the Chicago Board of trade.

Houston, among other things, gave the cattle feeders an insight on the financial status of a professional football player.

HE EXPLAINED the player-pension fund and reviewed the disagreement between players and the owners concerning the pension fund.

According to Houston, players have little voice in the player pension fund. He said coaches of the National Football League were included in the fund this year.

Emphasizing the players had no objections to pensions for the coaches, he stated it was the manner in which they were included.

Houston said League Commissioner Pete Rozelle had outlined the pension fund a year ago. But the plans were changed during the year and players were not informed until after the action was taken.

Houston, who in off-the-cuff remarks after the speech called former coach Paul Brown one of the greatest the game has ever known, said he agreed with his teammate Bernie Parrish that Brown would make an excellent commissioner for the league.

Parrish created a controversy shortly after the past season when he advocated Brown for the position now held by Rozelle.

THE ALL-PRO linebacker tabbed the Browns as one of the top teams in the NFL for the coming season. However, he pointed out that it took a lot of luck to win the championship in the NFL.

He told the cattle feeders that although the Cleveland defense gave up more yards than any other team in the league, they also recovered more fumbles. In reviewing the championship game between Baltimore and Cleveland, he said the biggest mistake the Colts made was in not throwing more long passes.

Houston credited the Cleveland front defensive four with a tremendous effort in the game and noted he had a comparatively easy time because of them. He was kept at the speaker's stand for nearly a half hour as persons present fired questions at him.

Following Houston's speech, Neil Morris, president of the Pickaway County Cattle Feeders Assn. presented a brief case to Hewitt Cromley, president of the state organization.

Actress Remains Critical In Latest Misfortune

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Arriving from England last week, Oscar winner Patricia Neal looked radiantly well and spoke enthusiastically of the movie she was here to start.

Today she lies in the intensive care unit at the UCLA Medical Center, in critical condition after two strokes and emergency brain surgery.

Nearby were her husband, British mystery short-story writer Ronald Dahl, and their three children, Tessa, 8; Theo, 5 and Ophelia, 8 months.

The first stroke — another in a series of misfortunes that have dogged the 39-year-old star's career — occurred Wednesday night.

A few hours earlier the tall willowy blonde with the large, sultry eyes and velvet voice had done her first big scene in "Seven Women." She plays a woman doctor in the film, which John Ford is directing at MGM.

Rushed to the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center, she suffered a second stroke and was taken to surgery.

Late Thursday her surgeon, Dr. Charles Carlton, issued a terse statement: "Mrs. Patricia Dahl was brought in last night with severe intracranial bleeding. Brain surgery was performed. Her condition remains critical."

Miss Neal won her academy award as best actress last April for her performance as Paul Newman's slatternly housekeeper in "Hud."

Friends said her ability to portray pathos and drama had been aided by real-life misfortunes — and the strength to withstand them. One was an ill-fated romance with the late Gary Cooper, with whom she fell in love after they co-starred in "The Fountainhead." The romance ended unhappily. Cooper remained married to his wife.

Another tragedy was the death of Olivia, eldest of her four children, from measles at the age of 7 in 1962.

And 5-year-old Theo has been under doctors' care since he was 4 months old, when a taxi struck his baby buggy in New York. Much of the time since then he has been without sight.

After the accident Miss Neal, her husband and children moved to a large farmhouse at Great Missenden, 40 miles northwest of London.

A native of Packard, Ky., Miss Neal studied for two years at Northwestern University's School of Drama.

In 1945 she went to New York with $80 and much determination and ambition. Critics hailed her first leading role — in "Another Part of the Forest" in 1946. It brought her the Antoinette Perry Award and the New York drama critics' best-actress award.

A Warner Bros. film contract followed.

Pickaway Grange Report

SALT CREEK VALLEY

Salt Creek Valley Grange 2314 met in regular session Feb. 16 with worthy master Russell Miller presiding.

A communication was read from John Dwler, chairman of Pomona Building Fund, expressing appreciation for generous and efficient help at the recent Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner.

Contributions were made to State and National Grange Youth Programs and The Heart Assn.

There was an approving decision to serve at open house for Laurelville Grain and Milling Company.

Guided by the Home Economics Chairman, Mrs. Judson Beougher, a decision was made to have the sewing and baking contests at an April meeting.

Initial plans were made to recognize the nine 25 year members as Patrons of The Silver Star at the May 4 meeting.

Current bills, opinions, and

The late Labour Prime Minister Clement Attlee traditionally stood for Parliament from Limehouse, London's tough dockside quarter that inspired the song "Limehouse Blues."

Ohio's Tax Setup May Get Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's tax structure and teacher certification system would come under the scrutiny of new state commissions under bills being considered in the Ohio Legislature.

Reps. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, Walter L. White, R-Allen, offered the tax study proposal Thursday and said it stemmed from numerous complaints over inequities in both local and state tax structures. White is chairman of the House Taxation Committee.

They proposed a 13-member state commission to include four representatives, four senators, and five appointees of the governor to study revision of the tax laws.

A nine-member professional practices board would be established to advise the state school board on teacher certification matters under a proposal by Rep. Thomas M. Herbert, R-Franklin.

The House received several other major proposals in a 30-minute floor session that ended the lawmakers' fifth work week. Among them was the Council for Educational Freedom's school bus bill which was shoved aside after introduction in the Senate.

Sponsors said the measure requiring school boards to extend bus service to private and parochial school students is written more clearly than earlier House measures.

The governor and elected state officials would receive pay raises under other new bills.

Rep. Arthur C. Katterheinrich, Auglaize, proposed an increase in the governor's salary from $25,000 to $35,000 and a boost for the secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, and attorney general from $15,000 to $25,000. The lieutenant governor would receive $15,000 a year instead of the present $8,000.

Some 45,000 state employees would receive increases ranging up to 10 per cent under legislation sponsored by Rep. Robert E. Holmes, R-Franklin, with several co-sponsors.

The hike would benefit all state employees under civil service and those covered in the wage classification law at a cost to the state of about $11 million a year, Holmes said.

Ohio sportsmen will watch with interest a proposed new law banning the training of hunting dogs from May 1 to Aug. 15. Rep. Carlton Davidson, R-Lawrence, who sponsored the bill along with Reps. Francis J. Heft, R-Monroe, and Roy Huffer Jr., D-Pickaway, said the purpose is two-fold.

Davidson said the measure would prevent disruption of nesting and breeding and at the same time halt summer invasions of Ohio woodlands by hunters from neighboring states which already prohibit dog training in the breeding season.

Other new House bills would extend voting hours from 12 to 13 by setting poll closing time at 7:30 p.m. (now 6:30 p.m.), require utilities to pass federal income tax savings along to consumers by reducing rates, and prohibit persons under 18 from entering bars with certain exceptions.

It is estimated that there are some five million persons in the United States today who are trapped in some stage of alcoholism.

U.N. Assembly Recesses after Stormy Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly ended one of the stormiest sessions in U.N. history Thursday night and recessed until Sept. 1 after the United States threatened an Albanian move to force an East-West showdown.

Applause rang out as Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson announced that the United States would agree to a procedural ballot demanded by Albania and would not challenge the Soviet Union's right to vote.

Red China's U.N. spokesman, Halim Budo of Albania, boasted that he had strong support. But a 97-2 vote swamped his demand that the assembly organize for normal business. There were 13 abstentions, of which France was the only major power. Mauritania voted with Albania.

The assembly approved by acclamation an interim budget and the appointment of a multinational committee to study the problem of U.N. peace-keeping.

The assembly adjourned at 7:51 p.m. following a sharp exchange in the closing moments between Stevenson and Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko. Criticizing Stevenson for announcing that he was withholding the U.S. challenge on voting rights, Fedorenko declared, "The United States cannot set itself up as an arbiter on whether this forum can vote or not."

Stevenson retorted that he had thought the Soviet Union wanted to avoid a showdown at this stage and demanded to know why Fedorenko did not voice his objections before the ballot.

Since Dec. 1 the assembly had been restricted to general policy debate by the refusal of the Soviet Union, France and other nations to pay peacekeeping assessments and the determination of the United States to demand that their votes in the assembly be taken away under Article 19 of the U.N. Charter. Article 19 specifies that any nation two years in arrears on its payments loses its vote. The Soviet Union, which contends peacekeeping assessments are illegal, threatened to walk out if the article was invoked.

A showdown was averted by agreement to take up only matters that could be approved unanimously, without a roll call vote. But with all such business exhausted, most delegates agreed to a long recess while further peacekeeping negotiations were held.

But on Tuesday, Budo threw the assembly into turmoil with his demand that the assembly organize.

The Albanian move, which few doubted had Red China behind it, would have necessitated an assembly vote and forced the U.S.-Soviet showdown.

Since then, key delegations conferred and came up with the U.S. agreement to a procedural vote.

790 in research at central Ohio Medical centers. Other funds are used to help make information born of research quickly available to physicians so that heart patients can receive the benefits at the earliest possible moment.

Mrs. Sanguly said funds are also used to sponsor community heart programs such as seminars and workshops for nurses and families on the care of the stroke patient; a cardiac work evaluation center to determine the work potential of the heart patient; rheumatic fever control programs to help prevent recurring attacks of rheumatic fever; and a year-round education program for the layman to help him learn more about the heart diseases and the progress that is being made to combat them.

The Heart Sunday observance marks the high point in the Pickaway County Heart Association's annual campaign. Mrs. Sanguly asked that those who are not at home when the Heart volunteer calls to mail their gifts to the Heart Fund in the pre-addressed envelope that will be left at the door.

and Turner had been leading the voter registration drive.

In Washington, an FBI spokesman said the FBI would investigate, if called upon to do so by the Civil Rights Commission, and make a report on the facts to the Justice Department. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said he sent a telegram to Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach asking for federal protection of citizens in Marion.

William R. McAndrew, executive vice president of NBC, sent a telegram to Gov. George Wallace of Alabama asking him to direct all law enforcement agencies in Perry County and Marion to capture the person or persons who injured correspondent Valeriani.

The voter registration campaign, which began in Selma and spread here, is now in its fifth week. More than 3,000 Negroes have been arrested, most of them in Selma, which is about 50 miles to the east.

The Key to the Kingdom

AN ANSWER TO THE GREATEST QUESTION OF HISTORY

Scripture—Matthew 16.

By R. H. Ramsey

TODAY'S LESSON opens with Christ's public and private condemnation of the Pharisees and Sadducees. Both groups had journeyed to Magdala to demand of Jesus a heavenly sign as proof of His divine authority, that He was the Son of God and the Savior of man. In reality, they were not looking for an actual sign, for they already had plenty of those. What they wanted was an "out," a way to escape acceptance of the things Christ was saying.

Knowing their hearts full well, Jesus rebuked them scornfully, telling them they were far more skillful at predicting day-to-day weather than they were at reading the "signs of the times" already predicted for them.

Along with His disciples, Jesus continued His upbraiding of the Pharisees and Sadducees, likening their doctrines to the leaven, or yeast, which eventually causes bread to spoil. In the Pharisees' case the leaven was hypocrisy; for the Sadducees, materialism.

Now let us consider the greatest crisis in the public ministry of Christ. For two and a half years our Lord had been teaching, preaching, performing miracles and living a life of absolute righteousness. If His disciples were ever to know that He was the Son of God, they into light; out of slavery into freedom; out of a life of sin and self into a life of God and holiness.

Naturally, Christ was speaking the future tense, for His church did not yet exist; it would begin with the descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. And it would be built upon "this rock," a phrase which, through the centuries, has proved particularly thorny and has led to literally hundreds of differing interpretations and opinions as to the meaning of "this rock."

The word Petros in the Greek is petros, meaning a separate stone, or a fragment of stone broken off. The word which Christ used here is petra, meaning a great, massive rock. Petros, that is, petros, was a part of that rock, but the actual rock was not Petros, but that which Petros had just confessed—that Christ was the Son of the living God.

Significantly, if we trace the figurative use of the word "Rock" throughout the Hebrew Scripture, we find it is never used symbolically of man, but always of God. Petros, and by being brought into living touch with him, had become petros, a part of the Rock.

Now Christ turns to an equally thorny problem, that of the "keys to the kingdom of heaven," the duty and responsibility

GOLDEN TEXT

"Then said Jesus unto his disciples, if any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me."—Matthew 16:24.

should know it now; and if they did not know, His mission had failed. Thus He asked the disciples who men were saying He was.

The disciples' answer failed to satisfy Him and He made the question more personal: what did the disciples themselves think of Him, for they had all been with Him long enough to know who He truly was.

Because Petros was usually the spokesman for all the disciples, we believe that all—with the possible exception of Judas Iscariot—agreed with Petros in his confession of Christ as the Son of the living God.

The anxiety with which Christ asked this searching question is revealed in His joy and relief at Petros's answer. Here, for the first time in the Gospels, our Lord specifically calls an individual "blessed." And Christ is well aware that the answer came not from Petros's own frail knowledge and opinion, but was revealed to Him by the Father in Heaven.

With his deity acknowledged, Christ discloses His mission to build a church designated as His own, of which He will be the head. The word ecclesia, a combination of Greek verbs meaning "to call out of." What a perfect descriptive word for the Church of Christ, for that is what all true Christians are—men and women called out from darkness.

The following is from Baha'i Scriptures: "Ye are the fruits of one tree, and the leaves of one branch. Deal ye one with another with the utmost love and harmony, with friendliness and fellowship."

"So powerful is the light of unity that it can illuminate the whole earth."

"A husband must be constantly worshipped as a god", say the Laws of Manu in India, and many faithful wives once followed their lords in death by throwing themselves on burning pyres. Suttee by widows continued until the mid-19th Century, long after the British outlawed it.

Bone Pickers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Thomas H. Gouchnour, a general surgeon, picks bones for relaxation. After he finishes his hospital rounds in the evening, he joins his son, Jim, 16, at home in scraping the rib bone of a mastodon or cleaning the teeth of a 500,000-year-old animal. He and his son have acquired many of the fossils while scuba diving. Included in their collection are a giant beaver tooth, parts of mammoths, mastodons, an extinct animal similar to a South American llama, deer, horses, tapir, giant sloths, and Indian relics from ancient tribes.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's willingness to bomb bases in Communist North Viet Nam, risking war with Russia and Red China, seems based on the assumption neither of the two Red giants wants to go to war.

The reason is human enough. The Russians, better than the Chinese, know the danger once a nuclear war starts: The Communist empire built up over the past 48 years might be lost.

And the Chinese, still many years behind the United States and Russia in industrial and nuclear development, know the fatal disadvantage in an all-out war with a country like this, which has nuclear bombs.

Besides, like the Russians, the Chinese have a lifetime effort at stake. They've come a long way since their bedraggled days in the 1920s. One wild mistake now could wipe out all their gains.

Stalin was the prime example of this kind of caution. From the time he took power in the 1920s until World War II he concentrated on building up Russia internally without the risk of foreign adventures or pushing his neighbors.

After the war, when he thought it was safe, he grabbed the European satellites but, when he tried his luck in Iran and the United States challenged him, he backed off.

Meanwhile, after the war he pushed Russian industrial and nuclear expansion until the Soviets became one of the two great post-war powers. In short, he figured time was on Russia's side, and he took his time.

It can be taken for granted the Chinese and his successors in the Kremlin, with all they have at stake, feel the same way.

If time is on their side then sooner or later, through subversion or weakness among their neighbors or guerrilla warfare that avoids the nuclear kind, they can hope to take over the nations around them.

That it is at the root of the Johnson administration's thinking comes through pretty well in statements by President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara this week.

Johnson, who this month ordered three bomber strikes on North Viet Nam while Russia and Red China howled, said: "We must all understand that we will persist in the defense of freedom and our continuing actions will be those which are justified and those that are made necessary by the continuing aggression of others.

"These actions will be measured and fitting and accurate."

And Thursday, McNamara reported to the House Armed Services Committee that the Red Chinese "have shown great caution when confronted with a determined display of military power."

He said Russia and Red China can be expected to stir up as much trouble as they can "whenever and wherever they can do so safely, without a 'head-on' collision with U.S. military power."

And he described the American determination to stay in South Viet Nam as the key to stopping Red expansion not only in Asia but in other developing nations.

He balanced his optimism about the present mood of the Red Chinese against the thought that in time they may have a nuclear missile system. "This is a most disturbing long-range prospect," he said.

But even at this moment, in any continued bombing of North Vietnamese bases, the Johnson administration will be dabbling in a risk of its own. It may be wrong in assuming Russia and Red China won't chance war if for some reasons of their own, even though now unimaginable, they ignore caution and try their luck.

That's why any extension of the war to North Viet Nam is still hair-raising.

Mahoning River Pollution Is Subject of Hot Debate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The battle lines are drawn pitting the State of Ohio, several north-east Ohio communities and industries against the federal government over whether the pollution control plan for the Mahoning River is adequate.

The next move will be up to the government following this week's two-day conference on the matter conducted in Youngstown. The official findings of the government conference will not be disclosed for several weeks, but the session ended with one of them, Wally Postom of the Chicago office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, saying:

The Mahoning River is being polluted by Ohio communities and industries, and the pollution threatens the health of Pennsylvania residents.

Everyone involved in the conference except the federal officials voiced disagreement.

This includes Dr. Charles Wilber, chairman of the Pennsylvania Water and Sanitation Board. "We have had no outbreak of disease," he said.

"Sewage treatment is to a point where viral infection is almost nil. The current and future program in Ohio is a good one and will considerably improve the quality of the river."

"The Mahoning River admittedly was one of the worst polluted streams in the nation 10 years ago," said Ohio's health director, Dr. Emmett W. Arnold. "But Ohio has made tremendous strides in pollution abatement of the river."

The federal officials countered that their investigation shows that most municipalities along the river discharge sewage into it with only primary treatment, resulting in removal of only between 30 to 50 per cent of the bacteria. They blame metal-processing industries and many municipalities along the river for the pollution problems.

A spokesman for the U.S. Interior Department, Fred Wampler, told the conference that the water quality is so poor downstream from Warren that no fishing exists.

"It is true the Mahoning River must sustain life," U.S. Democratic Rep. Michael Kirwan of Youngstown challenged. "But whose, people or fish? The river is now and always has been and I trust, always will be, an industrial stream."

An industrial spokesman, Robert F. Doolittle, vice president and general counsel of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. expanded Kirwan's statement. "We must appreciate that the existence of the steel industry in the Mahoning Valley, and the employment that goes with it, is utterly dependent on the Mahoning River. The industry relies on this river, first, for the enormous quantities of water needed for cooling purposes, and second, for discharge of certain of its wastes. Small as it is, without it, there would be no steel industry in either Youngstown or Warren."

MANTEO, N. C. (AP)—The Cape Hatteras National Seashore Park, this country's first publicly owned ocean-side recreational area, had 1,070,535 visitors in 1964.

National Park Service Supt. Karl T. Gilbert said the number of visitors increased 22.8 per cent over 1964.

"This was the largest number to visit this seashore recreation area," Gilbert said. "Since it was created during the early 1950s."

Big Problem For West Said Red Chinese

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The West must solve the problem of Communist China or risk disaster, South Viet Nam's military strong man said here Thursday.

"The big problem for all the great powers," Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh said, "remains Communist China. If you want to resolve these problems you must deal with China, and maybe that is as much true for the Russians as for you" — Americans.

Khanh toured shattered Binh Dinh Province, taking stock throughout the mountainous province. He was at the wheel of his own car much of the time, threading along dangerous back roads in areas where huge Viet Cong units are operating.

"Look at this district, Hoa Nhon District," he told this reporter. "The Viet Cong now hold 70 of its hamlets while we hold only 12. I just wish our Saigon politicians and students could have a look at this."

At various points along the way, Khanh repeated a pledge he made earlier in the week — that the war would be ended this year. He clearly meant that either the United States would undertake a general war against North Viet Nam and China or South Viet Nam would succumb.

"In a sense, this is a boxing match in which Viet Nam is in the last round," he said.

"You Americans have lost a lot as the result of the Chinese atomic bomb."

"That bomb represents progress to many people. It proves to Asians that science no longer is dominated by the West. This has a profound psychological effect on people."

"In the past, there has been a balance of power between Asia and the West. You have had the bombs and firepower but we have had vast numbers of people."

"But this Chinese bomb tips the balance in their favor, and sooner or later they will have many more bombs."

"You should never have let China fire that bomb."

'If You Can Train A Husband, You Can Train a Bird'

SALEM, Ohio (AP)—Who says cats and birds are natural enemies?

Not Dimpie and Robbie, who are the best of buddies.

Robbie, a crippled robin, enjoys perching atop the head of his pal, Dimpie an eight-year-old cat.

What's more both live at peace in the home of Mrs. Olive Luciani in the company of two dogs, Susie and Mickey.

The Lucianis saved Dimpie from death in a trash dump. Robbie was reared with an eye dropper after he was found injured last summer.

Robbie is trained to hitch rides on the head or shoulders of Mrs. Luciani. He wasn't hard to train, Mrs. Luciani says.

"If you can train a husband," she explains, "you can train a bird."

Brotherhood Week Observance Set

By LARRY STOUT

Starting Feb. 21, the nation will observe Brotherhood Week sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The National Conference stimulates year-round programs in schools and colleges, churches and synagogues, labor-management and community organizations and in newspapers, magazines, motion pictures, radio and television.

The purposes of Brotherhood Week are to give people an opportunity to re-dedicate themselves as individuals to the ideals of respect for people and human rights. The National Conference tries to dramatize the practical things that people can do to promote understanding and realization of those ideals.

Brotherhood Week is essentially a campaign against the prejudices that disfigure and distort religious, business, social and political relations.

Nuclei Club Holds Meeting

By DANNY GIBBS

Nuclei Club met last Tuesday evening in the CHS social rooms.

Dr. James Robinson of Mead Corporation spoke to the group. He is in the chemical research field.

In his lecture, he stressed that a course for chemistry should not necessarily include related subjects. Some of those high on his list are English, theoretical chemistry, math, physics, electricity and magnetism. To top off the evening, color slides were shown of the Mead Corporation research facilities. All present felt they had a deeper understanding of chemical research.

Key Club Elects Officers

By BOB PRITCHARD

At the Key Club's regular Wednesday morning meeting, club president Dick Crable conducted the election of officers for 1965-66.

Crable gave the report of the nomination committee and then opened the floor for nominations from members. When all nominations were closed Crable gave instructions on how to vote. No seniors were allowed to vote because they will not serve under the newly elected officers.

The new officers of the Circleville High School Key Club are Roger Grigg, president; Joe Winner, vice president; Jack Varble, executive secretary; Tom Goeller, treasurer; and Tom Evans, sergeant-at-arms.

The new officers will work with present club officers until May when the 65-66 officers will take command of the Key Club under the supervision of its present officers and committee-men.

CHS will participate in district tournament play Friday, Feb. 26, at Bexley with Circleville vs Groveport.

KAREN HOSLER

HERBERT AMEY

Students of the Week

By PATTI JEFFRIES

Who is the pretty - blue-eyed blonde we see gracefully walking down the hall each day? Her smiling face is never seen with a frown on it and her voice is soft and sincere.

Perhaps it's the student of the week, that freshman bouquet of smiles, Karen Hosler. She is enrolled in the commercial course, a member of Junior GAA and attends Trinity Lutheran Church.

Her interests vary from swimming to reading with sketching, writing, tennis and Bob Pritchard in between! Her main dislike is pizza, oddly enough.

She has a sister, Sharon, who works at DuPont and a brother, Mike who is a highway patrolman at Medina.

Karen plans to attend Columbus College of Art after graduation.

Meet a sportsman: one who likes Saturday night basketball games and wrestling. He is Herb Amey, a freshman, enrolled in the college preparatory course, with a high honor roll average each six weeks. He however, dislikes first period algebra class on Monday mornings!

Herb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Amey, Route 3, has a brother, who is a senior. He is Dave Amey, a member of the journalism class.

Herb and his family attend the Methodist Church.

Herb has a flare for architecture which he plans to study further after graduation.

Editor of the Month

By LINDA GOODMAN

A humorous, easy-going, talented, and active girl has been chosen "Editor of the Month" by the Journalism Class. Nancy Pickel, better known as "Pickel", will begin writing her editorials for the next three weeks and passing out assignments.

Nancy, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pickel Jr., 222 E. Mound St.

Seeing and talking to Nancy just once may not be enough. You may only see one side of her. You may see a girl who likes to walk in the rain, likes mud, likes sweatshirts, likes sloppy clothes, likes surfers, and likes going different places and meeting different people. On the other hand you may see a girl who dislikes sleep, dislikes "unnecessary" eating, dislikes shoes (she would "much rather go barefoot"), dislikes naturally curly hair, and dislikes the moon.

Nancy's family is also represented by her two sisters; Mary, who is married and Judy who is in the seventh grade. She considers Roger Dyke "a brother".

Nancy finds the time to be captain of a bowling team, to be in Curtain Callers, in 4-H junior leadership and to be one of our high-stepping majorettes for the band during marching season. She is a member of the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Her hobby is collecting junk

NANCY PICKEL

— bowling pins, no parking signs and ash trays. She also likes to write and she has chosen this as her vocation. She would like to attend a school connected with writing.

We all feel that "Pickel" will make a good editor and will lead us well.

Wrestlers Prepare for Tournaments

By BOB ANDERSON

As we know, the CHS wrestling season is coming to a close with the tournament still remaining. The matmen this season have had a 3-5 record.

The next movement of the matmen will be Feb. 28, at the sectional tournament. Coach LaBounty hopes to get a few through the first step, enroute to the state tournament. He has great hopes and faith in two of his matmen, especially who he thinks will make it. They are Jim Starkey with a 12-2 record and Charlie Martin who has a 9-3 record. These two boys have done a great job this year, and with lots of practice and aggressiveness, they can make it to the state tournament.

Coach LaBounty said that the main problem that hurt the team this year was, "The men were too kind to their opponents". Although kindness is a mark of good citizen, you have to be a little mean when you are on the mats to be a good wrestler.

Another problem that hurt the team this year was the lack of team membership. During this season, the team had to forfeit a few points, because of the lack of a member to wrestle in a particular weight class.

Coach LaBounty hopes that next year there will be a large turn-out in the ninth and tenth grades, to take the place of the ones that will be graduated this year.

The CHS Journalism Class and the students at CHS, wishes the best of luck to our matmen in the sectional tournament and hope that at least some of the team will make it to the state.

Sports Briefs

By DAVE AMEY

The Circleville Tigers assured of a first place berth in the SCO League, travel to Greenfield tonight, guests of the McLean Tigers.

Circleville is all alone atop the league race with a 7-2 record. Miami Trace, who gave the Tigers the league lead by beating Wilmington, 72-68, is tied with the Hurricanes for second place. Both teams are 6-3.

Wilmington plays cellar-dweller Hillsboro Friday, while Miami Trace is pitted against Washington C. H.

Circleville has not won an SCOL basketball championship outright since the 1959-60 season.

All the Tigers have to do is win Friday — no simple matter. The Greenfield gym is a small place. It will indeed be a good game to watch.

The Tigers have been experiencing trouble against non-league foes holding a 2-6 mark. The latest loss was to Pleasantview, 70-49, last Saturday night.

The Don Neff-coached Tigers should win tonight and take the outright league crown.

The Circleville Tiger Basketball team has drawn Groveport in the 1965 Class AA District tournament drawings.

The game is to be played Feb. 26 at 7 p. m. in the Bexley High School gym.

Teacher of the Week

By JOYCE JACOBS

Mrs. Lois Brobst, a devoted teacher and a helping friend to many is the teacher of the week. Understanding teenagers is no job for her since she has three of her own, Nancy, 17, Marsha 15, and John 14. Mrs. Brobst was graduated from Indiana Teachers College, Terre Haute, Ind.

Her busy life includes membership in the Beta Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, a national honor society for women teachers, membership in the Child Study Club and adviser to Senior SOS. She attends Trinity Lutheran Church where she is, also very active as a Sunday school teacher.

Her interests include knitting, sewing and travel. She dislikes flag wars!

Her policy on flag wars is that "I never recommend anyone for a job, who has participated in any way in a flag war. Juniors and Seniors are old enough to realize that flag wars are for kids. I don't think level-headed mature high school students participate in such activities."

Mrs. Brobst speaks about her work as a teacher. "I remember one statement that the speaker at our college commencement made that, at the time I thought was definitely impossible. He said, 'If you want to do a good job of teaching, you must be willing to spend 24 hours a day on the job.' Now I know how true it is. Perhaps only a few of those hours are in the classroom but many, many hours are spent in paper grading and planning, as well as outside school activities at which time you are dealing with students and doing teaching whether it be from a textbook or how to get along with people. I firmly believe that we are developing character, building personality, and helping young people become better citizens by our in-the-classroom and out-of-the-classroom work."

"I am trying to prepare students to help themselves whether it be through a job, working their way through college, or just living and working in the community. If they apply themselves while in high school and take advantage of all that is available, there is no reason why they cannot become successful in whatever line of work they follow.

"It seems that students while they are in school think of a teacher as being grouchy, inhuman, and very demanding; but, after they have graduated, their feeling changes and they see things differently. What the teacher did was for their own good but they did not see it at the time. Many times after graduation we look back and see what an impression a certain teacher has made on our lives. I hope that I can, in some way, be such a person to some student with whom I come in contact. I hope, that because of me and my work, in school, I have been a reason for that person becoming a better citizen of the community."

"I try to instill in the student the idea that all work must be his very best. He should be proud to put his name on any piece of work handed in. He must never be satisfied with anything but the best."

"A teacher who has the respect of his students, who can see the funny side of something, who has the interest of his students at heart, and puts their welfare before his own, will have no discipline problems and cannot be a failure."

"I thoroughly enjoy my work here in Circleville High School, but the days seem to go by so fast, I don't seem to get everything done that I'd like to. We hear people speak of the days getting shorter or longer as the seasons change, but, regardless of the season, either the days are getting shorter, or I don't budget my time as well as I should, because I never get all my work accomplished."

It is easy to see that Mrs. Brobst is a most conscientious and thorough teacher. We have no doubt but that she has helped many students to live better and more rewarding lives.

D. E. McDonald Speaks at CHS

By BOB PRITCHARD

Mr. David E. McDonald was guest speaker for the Distributive Education Class on Thursday, Feb. 11.

Mr. McDonald, who owns and operates Mac's Goodyear Store spoke mainly of the tire business, but also covered many points that are involved in any and all types of business. He spoke on such points as brand-names, purchasing, advertising and code of ethics, inventory, records, sales, personnel training, and competition.

Mr. McDonald stated that if you are to continue to grow, good service and good quality are a must in business. Mr. McDonald's presentation kept the class interested from start to finish.

DE Students of the Week

By BOB PRITCHARD

Martha Jane Seevers is one of our 21 DE students at CHS. She is a member of DECA and serves on many committees. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Seevers, 621 Maplewood Ave. Martha is also a member of the English Merit Society and her favorite subjects are English and Distributive Education. Martha is employed at Ward's Royal Blue by Mr. Ward Skinner. The second student is the treasurer of DECA, Miss Karen Woltz. She is the daughter of Mr. Paul Woltz and Mrs. Lillian Newlen. Her hobbies include dancing, singing, record collecting, swimming, and cards. Karen is also the treasurer of the senior class. She is a member of the First EUB Church of Circleville. She is employed at The First National Bank.

Accounts Given by Two Who Attended Festival

By NANCY PICKEL

The Ohio Wesleyan High School Music Festival held Feb. 6, was termed a success, with all involved benefitting in some respect.

Two of the girls from CHS who attended with the choir gave the following accounts.

Harriett Jones — "It was a great experience for anyone interested in music. It gave me a chance to get another director's interpretation of a particular piece. The two directors we had for the chorus were really excellent. There were over 1,200 in the chorus and they really got some wonderful results from them. I felt that some of the kids in the chorus just didn't care. This is never good."

"The main thing we noticed was the emphasis the directors put on dynamics. One of the directors was a real fancy dresser. He wore a bright red vest at the first rehearsal and a gold one at the second rehearsal. He was the greatest, and everyone, I think, felt the same way about him."

"One thing that was really funny, was seeing all of these high school students running down the main street of Delaware at noon to find a place to eat and ending up being almost the last ones to eat."

"It was a wonderful experience and I wish I could go again."

Donna Pontious — "This was my first and last trip to the Ohio Wesleyan High School Concert, but even if I had gone many times I'm sure each time would be as worthwhile as the first. During the two practices we had to prepare for the concert, almost everyone fidgeted, passed notes, talked, and ate candy. But when the time finally came, there was never a more angelic, golden-throated group of 1200 teenagers! One can't imagine the thrill of being a part of such a large choir. It has to be experienced."

Donna and Harriett as well as the others who attended from CHS agree with the comment Mr. Eberly made, "With as much interest in music as the students have at CHS, it is a shame that more do not attend events as worthy as the Ohio Wesleyan Music Festival."

Mo-Val Cage Title Remains Up for Grabs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maybe Wichita won't win the Missouri Valley Conference basketball championship after all.

The Wheatshockers, who lost All-America Dave Stallworth by graduation at midterm, lost their first MVC game of the season Thursday night. The Shockers, 10th-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, tumbled before the Tulsa Hurricanes 75-64 to open a two-game road trip.

Now the Shockers are in danger of being overhauled by the St. Louis Billikens, who are 7-3 in MVC play to Wichita's 8-1.

Wichita has five league games to play starting with North Texas at Denton, Tex. Saturday.

The North Texas Eagles indicated they may prove difficult for Wichita with their first MVC win ever over Cincinnati 54-53. Willie Davis' 18 points led the Eagles from an 11-point deficit in the game at Denton and broke their 10-game losing streak.

At Tulsa, Rick Park paced the Hurricane with 21 points. Jamie Thompson, Stallworth's replacement, scored 20 points for Wichita.

Utah State, playing its first game since the tragic death of All-America Wayne Estes on Feb. 8, edged Denver 67-66 on LeRoy Walker's two free throws in the closing seconds. The two conversions gave him 33 points for the game in Denver.

Denver also was the opposition for Utah State when Estes scored 48 points before he was electrocuted accidentally two hours later. Utah State won that game at Logan, 91-62.

In other games, Russ Gurnina's free throw in the last 10 seconds gave San Francisco a 53-52 road victory over San Jose. Drake downed Bradley 72-57 at Des Moines. Virginia Military surprised George Washington 87-70 at Lexington, Va., and Texas Western whipped West Texas 71-45 at El Paso.

Bottle Cap Deal Is Lone NFL-AFL Tie

PAIM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — The National Football League has decided NFL and rival American Football League players can mingle — but only under soft drink bottle caps.

Approval at the NFL annual meeting Thursday to continue a program mixing NFL and AFL player pop bottle pictures was rare evidence that the NFL is aware a rival league exists. Since the meetings began Monday, NFL owners have ignored the AFL like a distant relative.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced that the league is enthusiastic about backing for a second year a soft drink company's (Coca Cola) program that puts pictures of NFL and AFL players under bottle caps.

Prizes are given when photos of an entire team are collected. The promotion is excellent publicity for the NFL, Rozelle said, adding with a grin:

"This is in no way connected with a common draft between the two leagues."

Rozelle's joking reference underscored that "AFL" is almost a dirty word at the yearly NFL meeting. Representatives of the 14 clubs officially have kept a studied silence about the rival league that has triggered spiraling bids for untested college stars.

Off-Season Hunting Dog Practice May Be Curbed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Alien hound dogs and their trainers would be stopped from invading Ohio fields and woodlands in the off-season under a bill now pending in the Ohio House.

Rep. Carlton Davidson, R-Lawrence, was among three legislators who offered the measure Thursday. He said it was promoted in part by reports of wild animals "being shot or mauled by dogs" in counties bordering West Virginia, Kentucky, and Michigan.

The bill would prohibit the training of dogs "in pursuit of" game birds or fur-bearing animals between May 1 and Aug. 15, the prime breeding period. Davidson said it would apply statewide, also cracking down on Ohio hunters who fail to respect wildlife nesting and breeding seasons.

The measure was introduced without the knowledge of the State Wildlife Division or the League of Ohio Sportsmen but neither indicated concern.

Davidson said woodsmen from neighboring states often come to Ohio during the summer months "because their states already have laws prohibiting training of dogs in the breeding season."

He said he saw an editorial in a Huntington, W. Va., newspaper several months ago which encouraged such visits "with our hunting brothers of Ohio."

Jack F. Kamman, assistant chief of the Ohio Wildlife Division, said the state already has the authority to impose the same restrictions on state-owned lands "and often does."

He said small sections in some wildlife areas however, are set aside for dog training purposes the year around. Kamman declined to comment on the proposed legislation "until I have seen it."

But he added: "dog legislation always is touchy, and there might be some enforcement problems."

M. C. Balke of Cleveland, executive board member and former president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen which convenes in Columbus today for its annual meeting, said the subject probably would be dealt with in a resolution.

Celtics Near Their Ninth NBA Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics, on the threshold of their ninth straight National Basketball Association Eastern Division crown, need just eight wins in their last 15 games to establish an NBA record for regular season victories.

The Celtics reduced their magic number for clinching the Eastern title to five with a 119-109 victory over St. Louis Thursday night. In other games, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 117-110 and Detroit edged San Francisco 107-106.

Sam Jones and John Havlicek took turns blitzing the Hawks as Boston ran its record to 53-12 and moved 12 games in front of second - place Cincinnati. Jones whipped in 18 of his 27 points in the first period as the Celtics jumped off quickly. Then Havlicek scored 14 in the third period. He wound up with 28.

Boston set the NBA record for most victories with 60 in 1961-62 and fell one short of that mark last year. The Celtics need play only slightly better than .500 ball — 8-7 — in their remaining games to break the record. And .500 is hardly a Celtic-like pace.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and American League President Joe Cronin, who may succeed him, go before investigating senators today to tell why they approved the sale of the New York Yankees to the Columbia Broadcasting System.

CBS President Frank Stanton set the background in testimony Thursday. He said CBS bought the American League championships as a good investment and not with any idea of gaining an unfair bulge over rival networks in bidding for profitable baseball broadcasting rights.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee is looking into the deal. It seeks to determine whether new antitrust laws are required to protect the public interest in big - time professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

Pending is a bill sponsored by Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and other senators, to strip baseball of its existing blanket exemptions from antitrust action, but to spell out uniform and specific exemptions for the strictly sports aspects of the four sports.

3 Seattle Cage Players Ousted In Scandal

SEATTLE (AP) — Three Seattle University basketball players, one of them the captain and top scorer, were expelled from school here in a point-shaving scandal.

Charlie Williams, 21, the captain, and Peller Phillips, 21, both guards were arrested by the FBI Wednesday night and charged with bribery and conspiring to affect the outcome of a game here Jan. 22.

A Chicago tavern owner and former teammate of Phillips at Coalinga Calif., Junior College, Lee Casale, 23, was arrested in Chicago.

Seattle University announced the expulsion today of Williams, Phillips, and L.J. Wheeler, reserve center from Santa Ana, Calif.

The Rev. Timothy Cronin, assistant to the university president, said Wheeler was expelled because he knew of the conspiracy but failed to report it.

Seattle won the game against the University of Idaho 89-72, a margin of 17 points. The point spread was 18. Gambling on basketball games is usually on the point margin.

Williams and Phillips were released on their personal recognizance after being arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Walter J. Reseburg Jr.

Casale was arraigned in Chicago before U.S. Commissioner C.S. Bentley Pike, who continued hearing to Feb. 23 to await arrival of papers and set Casale's bond at $25,000.

Father Cronin was quoted as saying Phillips told him the basketball-bribery incident was a "favor to a friend" for which he received $130.

The priest said Phillips admitted meeting Casale in Chicago on a road trip early in the season and agreed "to help him out because Casale was in financial troubles."

Seattle, with a 17-6 record and the winner of 11 straight, had been a leading contender for an at-large berth in the post-season NCAA tournament. The arrests are believed to have killed this chance.

The FBI said the arrests were the first under a new law, effective last June, making it a federal crime to influence the outcome of a sporting event by bribery, or to use interstate commerce facilities such as telephone or telegraph in such an attempt.

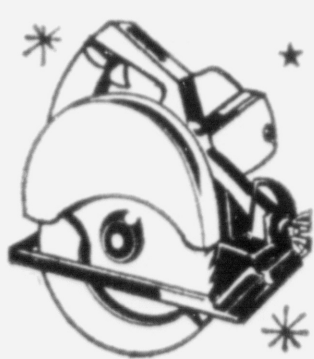

The law was the outgrowth of earlier basketball point-shaving scandals.

The FBI said the maximum penalty is a $10,000 fine or five years in prison, or both.

Charles, a 28-year-old left-hander from New Zealand, shot a seven-under-par 65 Thursday over the gigantic Tucson National Golf Club course. The par-72, desert layout stretches 7,200 yards and has some of the nation's biggest greens.

Frank Beard of Louisville, Ky., one of the hottest players on the tour, was just one stroke back at 66. Paul Bondeson was next at 67, and seven others were tied at 68.

Central State Shatters Records

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Central State College has marked up the first undefeated basketball season in the school's history.

The sure-shooting Marauders did it Thursday night with a stunning, record-breaking rout of Detroit Business College 126-66.

In winning their 21st straight game, the Marauders, second-ranked in The Associated Press poll of small college teams and a likely NAIA entry, shattered three records.

They also stand as the state's only undefeated college cage team and one of the few in the country with a no-loss record.

Besides being the school's first unbeaten team, Central State's win produced these records:

—A new individual career scoring record of 1,263 points set by Ken Wilburn, a junior with another year left. Wilburn broke the old scoring mark of 1,243 points set in 1961 by Turner Russell.

—A new school scoring mark for one game. The old record was 120 points scored against Wilmington in 1952.

Wilburn racked up 27 points Thursday night and then left the game with 12 minutes still to play. Happy players and fans carried coach William C. Lucas away on their shoulders when the game ended.

Elsewhere, Ohio prestige was nicked a bit as North Texas State snapped a 10-game losing streak and won a Missouri Valley Conference half-raiser from Cincinnati 54-53. It was the first North Texas victory over Cincinnati since the Texans joined the conference in 1957.

The Steubenville Barons got some of the Buckeye prestige back by defeating Marshall 83-75 in a non-conference contest. The Barons are now 18-3 for the season.

But in another interstate game the University of Detroit dominated the backboards and defeated Baldwin Wallace 76-56 at Detroit.

In other action, Hiram's Terriers mauled Western Reserve 96-72 and Marietta dropped Kenyon 65-48 in an Ohio Conference game.

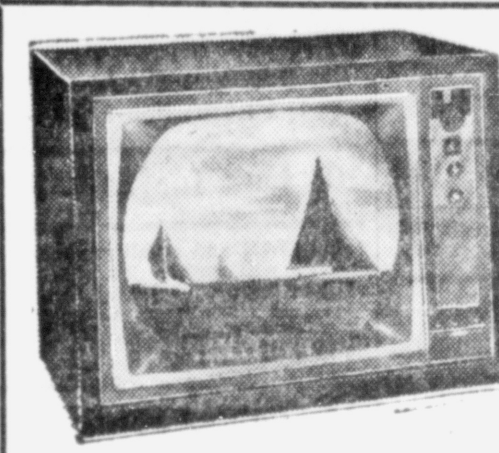

Floridian Keeps Top Scoring Spot

NEW YORK (AP) — Rick Barry's national leading average has dropped to 36.5 per game, but the 6-foot-7 star of the University of Miami, Fla., Hurricanes still has a comfortable lead in college basketball's individual scoring race.

The weekly statistics released Thursday by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau show Barry leading with a 37.3 average on 821 points in 22 games through last Saturday.

The late Wayne Estes of Utah State, who was accidentally killed on Feb. 8, remained in second place with a 33.7 average in the 19 games he played before his tragic accident.

Bill Bradley of Princeton retained the No. 3 spot with 31.1 with Dave Schellhase of Purdue fourth at 29.2.

Richmond Fights Telephone Crisis

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — This city of 44,000, which boasted one of the nation's first dial telephone systems in 1907, has gone three weeks with telephone service ranging from dead silence to makeshift party lines limited to emergency calls.

An insurance agent commented: "It's the first time I've had any peace for years."

Teenagers found they could convey most vital information to one another at school without gluing themselves to the phone a couple of hours each night.

Not one housewife had to climb out of the tub and inform a telephone salesman she wasn't interested in new siding on the house, or buying more magazines.

With all that, Richmond's citizens will be glad when the General Telephone Co. restores the normal service that was stopped abruptly Feb. 4 by a $1-million fire in a switching center.

The last normally completed call was to the Fire Department. One to the company's general manager, William Rigdon, was stopped in the middle when the connection melted.

Richmond quickly realized the telephone blackout wasn't simply a matter of uninterrupted naps and undisturbed households. Suppose the house caught fire, you heard a burglar at the window, the baby became desperately ill, or a business emergency came up?

With 18,000 telephones dead, officials realized they had a potentially dangerous situation on their hands.

General Telephone, aided by rival Bell companies, threw all of its resources into restoring emergency services — but it was radio that prevented inconvenience from becoming tragedy in the early days of Indiana's biggest communications blackout.

Companies which used radio to direct taxicabs, fuel trucks and other business vehicles, sent them to strategic locations. Radio-equipped local and state police cars went to hospitals, police and fire stations.

Amateur and citizens band radio operators manned strategic points.

A radio communications center in the city building received all flashes on fires, imminent births and other emergencies and relayed them to appropriate departments, by radio, auto or runners.

The telephone company first hooked in the Police Station, Fire Department and hospital to emergency switchboards. It then spotted free telephone booths around the city.

By last Monday, it had all private phones on a temporary network of four-party lines. A special temporary telephone book was published as a supplement of the Palladium-Item newspaper.

The threat of catastrophe was over. But more than 300 men and women from 14 states will be working until midsummer before regular dial service is restored.
